Victor In County Spelling Bee

Malcolm Ogilvie's Champ Again

ON TO CANTON! That was the cry of these five spellers following a countywide bee Friday night at Lisbon in which they qualified for the regional speling bee April 24 at Canton Timken High School. Malcolm Ogilvie of Westgate Junior High, second from left, won his second county championship, defeating Ruth Stamp of United Local. At the rear is William Humphrey, also of United Local, who finished third. George Sturgeon of Beaver Local, at the extreme left, was fourth and Deborah Banfield, also of Westgate and city champion, was fifth.

By BYRON EELLS
With Malcolm Ogilvie reigning as Columbian County champion for the second time after his victory Friday night in the countywide speling bee at Lisbon, Westgate Junior High continued to dominate spelling bees.

Young Ogilvie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ogilvie of Blazer Ln., led a team of five spellers, including his Westgate classmate and city champion, Deborah Banfield, a Beaver Local student and two from United Local into the regional finals April 24 in Canton.

The 13-year-old eighth grader defeated Ruth Stamp, United Local eighth grader, to win the championship of the public and parochial schools in the bee held at David Anderson High School.

The runnerup is 14 and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stamp of Salem R. D. 2. Finishing third was William ers as they try to follow the footsteps of Gary Barringer of Westgate, who won the regional title last year and went on to finish third in the national bee. Now a freshman, Gary is ineligible for competition.

After capturing the 1962 county championship, Ogilvie competed in the Canton speling bee, finishing 22nd.

The 13-year-old eighth grader defeated Ruth Stamp, United Local eighth grader, to win the championship of the public and parochial schools in the bee held at David Anderson High School. The runnerup is 14 and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stamp of Salem R. D. 2. Finishing third was William Humphrey, 14 - year - old classmate of Miss Stamp's and son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Humphrey of Hanoverton R. D. 1, while George Sturgeon, 12 - year - old seventh grader at Beaver Local and son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Sturgeon of Elton was fourth.

Ogilvie scored his victory on the 314th word in the 35th round when Miss Stamp started "catastrophe" with "co." He spelled it correctly and clinched it with "veracious."

The two battled through 20 words after Humphrey was eliminated when he omitted a "z" in "quizzical". Miss Stamp

MISS BANFIELD, 14 - year - old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. Fred Banfield of Highland Colony, and also an eighth grader at Westgate, was the fifth qualifier.

Debbie actually is following Barringer step-by-step. Gary also won the city championship and finished fifth in the county speling bee before taking the regional title.

For qualifying, the five spellers received trophies from The Review and The Salem News, sponsors of the annual spelling bees. The presentation was made by Ray Dean, editor of The News.

'Misunderstanding' Clarified

Site For New Post Office Hasn't Been Determined

No site for a Post Office has yet been officially selected in East Liverpool because the Post Office Department has not been able to acquire the necessary options, a regional postal official said today.

The possibility of erecting a new building on W. 3rd St. in the half block section from near Market west to Jackson St. and north to W. Church Alley was under consideration but "a misunderstanding" developed, Rahter said, because Council was not asked to give tentative approval privately.

The regional officer said it is necessary for the region to obtain indications from governing bodies on such problems as vacating an alley or street and whether any local, state or federal project is planned for the property under consideration.

IN ADDITION to being unable to obtain options on all the properties, the route for a proposed eastward extension of the city Freeway from W. 3rd and Monroe Sts. has not been determined, further hindering selection of the site, Rahter continued.

The W. 3rd St. site was being considered and options had been obtained on about two-thirds of the properties when City Council was asked at its meeting March 2 in a letter from W. A. Boers, regional real estate officer, if it would vacate Peach Alley between W. 3rd St. and W. Church Alley.

The "misunderstanding" developed, Rahter said, because Council was not asked to give tentative approval privately.

The regional officer said it is necessary for the region to obtain indications from governing bodies on such problems as vacating an alley or street and whether any local, state or federal project is planned for the property under consideration.

THE DEPARTMENT does not seek publicity while trying to acquire property for a site for a new building since it is necessary to secure a tract that has a proper relationship to the total project so when it is placed on the market the department can expect reasonable lease rates.

Ogilvie Wins County's Bee

seemingly had no problems until "cantata" but Ogilvie was particularly careful with "macaroon," "schism" and "tincture."

YOUNG STURGEON bowed out on "niche" and Miss Bandfield misspelled "sarsaparilla".

The five qualifiers were determined when Barbara Hart, a Lisbon fifth grader substituted an "e" for the "a" in "vigilance."

Continuing to have trouble whether to use an "a" or an "e," Michael Rolley of McKinley, city runnerup, finished seventh. He went down when he used an "a" for the "e" in "abstinence." In the city bee last week, he lost out when he spelled "occurrence" with an "a."

Karen Wherry of Lisbon was eighth when she missed "squeamish" and Bruce Bieschelt of Columbiana followed her to the sidelines on "quietus." William Schilling forgot the "e" in "hoeing" to end up 10th.

Marjorie Bretz of New Waterford, winner of the county schools' bee this year and third-place finisher in the 1963 countywide speldown, ranked 11th when she misspelled "sovereign."

KATE MARSHALL of Leetonia substituted an "e" for an "i" in "tourniquet" to wind up 12th while James McPeak of Immaculate Conception School in Wellsville, parochial champion, finished 13th when he started "schematic" with "sk."

Mattie Coleman of Daw Junior High in Wellsville wound up 14th after missing "nondescript" with Richard Everett of Salem ranking 15th after being eliminated.

SPRING AND YOUR SEPTIC TANK

Surprising though it may seem, Spring, with its sunshine and showers, is just about the most critical time of year for owners of septic tanks.

To correctly understand the aforementioned statement it is first necessary to analyze the workings of septic tanks, and the effect of seasonal changes.

Your septic tank is a chamber wherein exists a complex of micro-organisms, each type equipped to handle and dispose of different types of waste material. Working as a team, these infinitesimal forms of life break down and liquefy the solids, leaving only a liquid which is free to run out for final disposal in your drainfield or drywell. Regularly activated, these living "garbage disposals" will normally keep up with the flow of waste, and your system will function properly. However, surveys show that during the spring season, more systems "back-up" and overflow than any other time of year, creating expensive and highly unsanitary conditions.

WHY???

The answer to that question is simply "temperature". Bacterial life dislikes temperature changes, and, since your septic tank has no heating system to keep things cozy that they can go about their work in comfort, they die off in millions and billions when winter arrives, leaving only a "skeleton crew" of weakened bacteria to handle the heavy loads. Consequently, as winter months pass slowly by, a build-up of undigested grease and solids occurs, clogging the tank and passing through to the disposal fields. Grease congeals and deposits in the pores of the soil, almost to the point of being beyond repair. Melting ice, snow, and spring showers add to the problem by increasing the amount of water entering the system.

HOW SEA-CAL ENZYMES HELP

The powerful digestive powers of the enzymes contained in SEA-CAL rapidly liquefy the hard grease packs in the septic tanks and drainfields, changing such grease and other solids into available food for the bacteria. SEA-CAL also contains 80,000 aerobic bacteria per gram (28 grams in each ounce), and with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day, the micro-organism population as rapidly built up to adequate numbers, with the ultimate return of full operating efficiency.

IMPORTANT !!!!!

FOR THE BEST PROTECTION DURING SPRING, DOUBLE YOUR SEA-CAL TREATMENTS. PARTICULARLY WHERE TANKS ARE UNDER-SIZE OR ARE SUBJECT TO OVERLOADS AND / OR AMOUNTS OF DETERGENTS AND BLEACHES.

MILLIGAN'S

320-328 Smith St.

inated on "gregarious." Pamela Brooks of Leetonia forgot "daffodil" was spelled with two "f's" to finish 16th.

Patsy Severs of Beaver Local finished 17th when she obviously became excited and accidentally started "cathedral" with a "t." Joe Scarabino, Wellsville champion, preceded her to the sidelines when he received a completely foreign word to him, "usury."

JACQUELINE DAVIS of East Palestine, parochial runnerup, was 19th in a similar situation when she received "oleander."

JoAnne Stepanovich of Glen-moor finished 20th when she finished "reciprocal" with "icle." Gayle Brammer of Salineville got the "ie" twisted in "siege."

Jane Miles of Salem bowed out of the contest on "ballif" and Wanda Rea of United Local was eliminated on "sabotage" while Patricia Steed of Glenmoor finished "rebuttal" with an "le."

Gaye McCaskey of Beaver Local ranked 25th when she spelled "affidavit" with an "a" in place of the first "i."

When James Burgess of Horace Mann was eliminated, it drew the only protest.

When the Rev. Daniel Keister of Salem, the pronouncer, gave Burgess the word "physician," the Horace Mann student pronounced and quickly spelled "position."

AFTER A quick huddle, the judges ruled Burgess could not continue since he did not spell the word given him. At the end of the round, a protest was made but the judges reasserted their decision, ruling that the pronouncer had clearly enunciated "physician." In spelling bees, the decision of the judges is final.

The judges were Carl F. Pelli, East Liverpool High School principal; Cornell Monda of Lisbon, county school psychologist, and Miss Nellie Glass, Salem librarian.

Margaret M. Porter of Taft preceded Burgess to the sidelines when she received "writhe," and Scott Clark of Salem went out on "sheriff" and David Boone, also of Salem, was sidelined by "originated."

THIRTIETH PLACE went to Rick Hum of Columbiana, who transposed an "o" in "courageous."

Nervousness claimed the first two youngsters. Penny Pringle of Wellsville was the first speller to go down in the first round when she started "vicinity" with a "va." She was followed to the sidelines by Donna Scratchfield of Neville, who missed "recept."

Sweet Adelines Set Nomination

A nominating committee was named at the meeting of Sweet Adelines, Inc., Friday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Mrs. Sonya Rose, president, appointed Mrs. Hilda Edgar, chairman, Mrs. Phyllis Moore and Mrs. Nancy Beaver. Election will be held April 10.

Guests were Mrs. Donna Mound, Mrs. Lucille Ruckenbord, Mrs. Ruth Calkett and Mrs. Pearl Slagle of the Youngstown Chapter, who invited the local group to a party May 18.

Glen Woods directed singing. Miss Gloria Blankenship was another guest.

Next session will be Friday.

Hurt In Car Mishap

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A car vaulted a guard rail at Howland Hill on Ohio 82 and tumbled down a 225-foot embankment Friday. Bertha Staszko, 18, of Southington, the driver, was in fair condition in Trumbull Memorial Hospital with a broken right arm, body injuries and a severe forehead cut.

Officers also reported Wayne V. Stamp, 17, of Columbiana suffered a laceration of the right elbow when his car crashed along County Rd. 440 two-tenths a mile east of Columbiana Friday night at 11.

Stamp was cited to Juvenile Court, officers reported.

CHARLES MANES
Now Assistant Professor.

Charles Manes Gets New Post At Thiel College

Charles Manes, son of Mrs. Donald Hull, 503 Oakland Ave., and 1950 graduate of East Liverpool High School, has been promoted from instructor to the rank of assistant professor in health and physical education at Thiel College at Greenville, Pa. Dr. Chauncey G. Bly, president, said the appointment is effective Sept. 1 for the former city resident.

A graduate of Thiel in 1958, Manes was appointed to the faculty in 1959. In 1963 he received the degree of master of arts in physical education from Western Reserve University, Cleveland. During the 1958-1959 school year he was a teacher and coach in the Middlefield (Ohio) High School.

In addition to his teaching duties at Thiel, Manes serves as assistant football coach, head basketball and track coach, and director of the intramural program. He is a member of the Pennsylvania State Education Association and the American Association of Health and Physical Education, and is a captain in the Army Reserves. Manes serves as a member of the athletic committee.

He was a member of the wrestling team when at ELHS.

Rahter pointed out erroneous information often circulates in some towns when the department is seeking sites for a postal building. "This is unfortunate since many times it delays our projects, and in some instances has made it impossible for us to proceed."

East Liverpool has been "a very difficult case" to solve because of high ground utilization and high ground costs, typical of many Ohio River towns, Rahter concluded.

Steubenville Church Sets Orthodoxy Rites

STEUBENVILLE — An Orthodox vespers service will be celebrated Sunday night at 7 in the Holy Resurrection Serbian Orthodox Church here, arranged by the Eastern Orthodox Catholic Clergy Association of the Ohio Valley and the various choirs of the member parishes.

Fr. Vladimir Suka is host pastor. An a cappella choir of some 200 mixed voices will sing responses to the service in the Greek, English and Old Slavonic languages.

During the service, the sacred icons will be carried by the priests in a solemn procession in commemoration of the victory of the Church over those who tried to rid her of the sacred images in 787 A.D.

Sewage Plant Bids Studied

get the project moving again.

The facility, to be erected in a section of the City Park, will be financed by a 40-year bond issue with the sewage rates to be an estimated 100 per cent of the water bills.

The city signed a contract with the Magnuson Co. of Cincinnati, a bond firm, in November calling for a 35-year bond issue with an interest rate of 3.75 per cent.

But the contract was later modified to the 40-year plan, increasing the overall cost by $60,000 but cutting the planned sewage rate from 130 per cent to about 100 per cent.

A FEDERAL grant of $110,000 authorized over a year ago has since been hiked to $123,000, according to Mayor Abrams.

The Sanitary Board, comprised of Mayor Abrams, Lee and John Pinney, has charge of the project.

Among other city officials present this morning were Councilmen Don Chaney, Don Hisam, Charles Kology and Carl Graham, in addition to A. R. Todd, engineer hired by the city for the survey.

Plane

two Cambodian fighters crossed into Vietnamese territory Thursday, shot down the lightweight L19 spotter plane, then flew back across the frontier.

It said radar tracked movements of the two Cambodian aircraft, which U.S. observers at the scene had said were of the propeller-driven T28 type given to Cambodia in the U.S. military assistance program last year.

The American pilot of the Vietnamese air force plane, which was observing air attacks on the guerrilla-infested Cambodian border village of Chantrea, was dragged from the burning wreckage seriously injured. His Vietnamese observer was killed.

The Saigon government accepted full responsibility for its aircraft strafing Chantrea, 40 miles west of Saigon, and formally apologized to Cambodia.

A Foreign Ministry communiqué said the government took full responsibility concerning this matter, "caused by an error in locating map coordinates."

The air attack on the Cambodian hamlet and the alleged downing of the Vietnamese plane constituted the most serious incident to date between the two countries.

Key Club Continues Fund Drive At Lisbon

LISBON — The High School Key Club resumed solicitations for the Red Cross Fund drive, for which $260 was collected when the campaign began Thursday night, Monty Munteen, chairman, reported.

Club members had hoped to canvass the entire village but several were unable to attend Thursday evening. They will try to finish the drive here and in the surrounding area today, including business houses.

Lisbon's goal is $1,000.

Lisbon Episcopal Women Told Fellowship Day Plans

Plans for the annual Fellowship Day of the Lisbon Council of Church Women were announced at the meeting of the Episcopal Women of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church Thursday night in the undercroft with Mrs. Oscar Lodge, president, in charge.

Reporting on the March meeting of the women's council, Mrs. Bert Dailey said the fellowship event will be held May 1 at 2 p.m. at the Methodist Church.

Rector Leads Devotions

Devotions were led by the Rev. Tom Webster, rector.

A contribution was approved for the church periodical club and the united thank-offering will be received April 26.

A rummage sale is scheduled April 3-4 at the Masonic Lodge storeroom.

"St. Christopher's Mission for the Navajo Indians of Buff. Utah" was the program subject presented by Mrs. Cornell Monda.

Mrs. Randall Loch gave closing prayer.

Because of the spring regional meeting to be held at the Lisbon church April 16, the next meeting of the women's group will be April 9.

D. A. Lodge Meets

Mrs. Elsie Pete, councilor, presided for business when the Pride of Center Council 190 of the Daughters of America met Thursday night in the Lodge hall with 35 present.

Prizes for the card party that followed went to Mrs. Francis Gunn, Mrs. Karl Scott, Mrs. William Hiscox, Mrs. Kathryn Bush and Mrs. Clarence Fife. Marion Figley won a prize.

Members with the March birthday anniversaries will be honored at the next meeting Thursday.

The after-prom party sponsored by parents of the Junior Class of David Anderson High School was planned at a meeting Thursday evening at the high school.

First You Get The Job

Pierre Salinger is latest of John F. Kennedy's official family to leave the inner circle of the White House. He was the late President's press secretary.

He followed James C. Hagerty—a tough act in press relations. But he more than held his own. He earned the confidence of the press corps by candor when it was called for and discretion when candor was impossible. George Reedy, who takes over now, is following two tough acts.

But the news of Mr. Salinger's departure, accompanied by his assistant, Andrew T. Hatcher, is not their decision to leave. Mr. Salinger, with Mr. Thatcher's help, will bid for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator in the California primary.

The similarity to the Ohio bid of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. for the Democratic nomination for senator in Ohio will be noted. Both men are thinking of participating in the government of their country. Both have made a personal decision to risk job security for a new career in which they think they could be more useful.

Neither has had direct personal experience in politics, though Mr. Salinger has worked close to the eye of the political storm in Washington. But the role of press secretary is to convey information to the communication media, not to make policy or assert leadership.

Neither man has detailed knowledge of the problems of his state. Yet it goes without saying that both have the potential capacity to learn these things. The old hands they are running against had to learn them once.

It is like the irony of the young man looking for his first job, with no previous experience. How can he get experience until he gets his first job?

We have a hunch Pierre Salinger and Col. Glenn may be exchanging telegrams shortly. They have much in common.

On To Canton

A sort of Easter aura marked Malcolm Ogilvie's capture of the Columbiana County spelling bee crown for the second year Friday night.

The 13-year-old city eighth grader correctly spelled "canasta" and "veracious" to win the title, and leads a competent quintet to the regional contest at Canton April 24.

They carry our congratulations and hopes for again taking the city and county representation into the national finals.

Therapy In Liverpool

The rhythmic charm of "the beat" with twanging guitars has brought a decline in juvenile violence in Liverpool, our big sister city in Great Britain, according to a recent article in an English sociology journal.

That loudly lovable foursome, "The Beatles," found early fame playing the rock and roll clubs in the Merseyside district of Liverpool.

The great cultural change came after 1955 when the movie, "Rock Around the Clock," hit Britain, and the insistent throb of rock music caught the heart of the wild ones.

Warring street gangs who wielded bicycle chains on old ladies began turning their talents to producing more and better "rock" quartets, and today the delinquent cy rate has fallen below the national average.

Fortunately, our area young people have achieved a general level of sophistication above gang competition. But the therapy potential exists, perhaps, for some of our offensive "hot rodders" and ne'er-do-wells of all ages.

In addition to license suspensions, jail terms, probation and fines, would ten lessons on the guitar and a continued "hearing" be a therapeutic complement to justice?

We'll never know. The Beatle appeal just doesn't seem to extend into the various courtrooms, squire's offices and mayor's chambers as we know them in this district.

Meanwhile, go, Ringo and George and all you ex-delinquents with those Liverpudian accents. . . .

By Martin Miller

sands of dollars left there by hordes of "tourist" newspapermen, polisters, volunteer campaign workers, and radio and TV entourages.

There are several other reasons for doubting the value of the New Hampshire primary. As you know, New Hampshire is nicknamed the Granite State and has a lot of mountains. Obviously, there is not going to be much real grassroots on granite mountains.

And we will have to call the inhabitants there "hillbillies," because New England is supposed to be a hotbed of Culture, with a capital C.

Finally, with all those voters walking slantwise on the mountainsides, how can you pretend they are level-headed?

THERE ARE a couple of other things I have been meaning to mention to you. Now that robins, mourning doves, blackbirds and other of our feathered friends have returned north for the summer, we probably can expect our human friends who went south for the winter to be returning, too. Their healthy tans will contrast nicely with our office pallor.

Just for a switch, on your next day off you could go to Washington and stone a few foreign embassies.

cemetery close by Lordstown would get a belt out of being so close to this main stem, though that was not their idea when they came over the mountains. They were getting away from it all and starting fresh in new country then.

But today when we go back to look at where they lived we find none of the tranquility they enjoyed. The one-room schools were torn down long ago to make room for allotments. The river valley where many of them tilled the soil has been flooded to make a water supply for down-river steel mills.

Airports, factories, complicated cloverleaf intersections, shopping centers and the inevitable black top are gradually covering all the land they trod.

IT IS IN the cards that one day rude hands will tear at the hallowed ground in which they have been sleeping these many years — my grandfathers and grandmothers, my uncles, aunts and cousins!

Will there be more important things to do with that God's Acre of shallow mounds and deep-trodden aisles?

Probably so. And if so, it will be all right.

They were a bright-eyed and bushy bearded assembly of old gals and boys, as I remember my ancestors. They wouldn't want to stand in the way of progress—not them.

They'd want to get into the parade. If General Motors expands enough, they may get into it in a fleet of new convertibles.

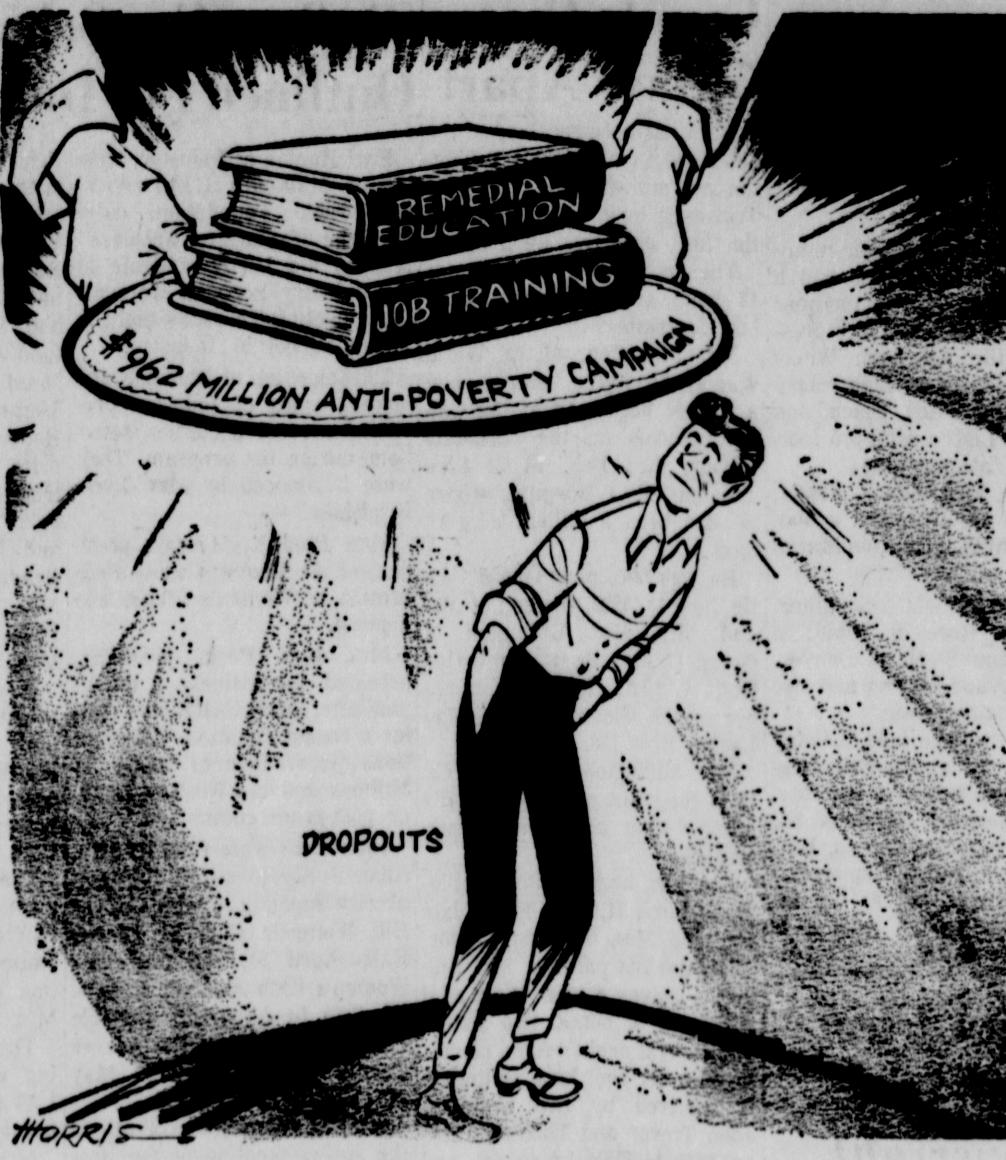

The first U. S. transcontinental telephone line was opened between New York City and San Francisco on January 25, 1915, spanning a distance of 3,400 miles.

ALL MY ancestors on both sides are buried in a cemetery not far from the site of the new General Motors development. On Memorial Day, when the nearby community goes to the cemetery en masse the ceremony is punctuated by the fit-fit-fit of high-speed traffic on the Ohio Turnpike and the growling of big semis.

The Ohio Turnpike is the reason General Motors chose the Lordstown site. The new plant will be one more bead on a string of enterprise that runs endlessly from east to west, connecting the urban masses of the Atlantic coastal plain to the industrial complexes of Youngstown, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit and on west to Chicago, with super-roads shooting off in all directions.

My ancestors who lie in that little

Opportunity On A Silver Platter

Folksy Politics Fails The Test

By Raymond Moley

The New Hampshire primary campaign offers little enlightenment so far as this year's presidential campaign is concerned. But it teaches a very severe lesson in what is called the art of politics. This might be pondered by candidates, political managers, and the voting public generally.

The method of campaigning adopted by Goldwater and Rockefeller failed in the pragmatic test. It didn't work. A silent man on the other side of the world won. His cause was carried on by subordinate workers on the spot.

The routine adopted by Rockefeller and Goldwater with the voters — and with many who were not voters at all — was face to face and palm to palm. As Juliet said at her first meeting with Romeo, "Palm to palm is holy palmer's kiss."

Detached austerity with a gesture of dignity won in the Granite State. Conviviality failed. Goldwater would have done better if he had remained on the Senate floor or in the patio of his home in Phoenix. And his luster would have been maintained if, as some friends advised, he had skipped that primary entirely.

THIS WRETCHED pattern of cagging votes was apparently set by Rockefeller. In two campaigns for governor of New York he used it freely. But since his two opponents on those occasions were weak candidates and Rockefeller money flowed like water, it is doubtful that the walkie-talkie, handshaking, and eating and drinking (coffee) business had much effect upon New York voters.

Rockefeller, however, didn't originate the folksy approach. It has been used for generations by candidates for sheriff, for councilman, and for the keepership of the dog pound.

It's not uncommon with candidates for Congress. Estes Kefauver did himself fairly well in New Hampshire and elsewhere with the handshaking act. But he was an accomplished clown.

The Rockefeller routine goes far beyond handshaking and broad smiles. His has been a manifestation of gastronomic prowess. In his New York campaigns for governor, in order to show that his wealth had not been spent on food, he ate freely of pizzas, blintzes, bagels, hot dogs and hamburgers.

IN NEW HAMPSHIRE the menu was somewhat different. There were hot dogs and hamburgers, but also ice cream sodas and gallons of coffee. Perhaps he was trying to show that he had something which his famous grandfather lacked. For Grandpa John D. was said to have had "dispepsy" for some decades in his later life. In those days mothers, including my own, used to tell children that they had something that old man Rockefeller's money couldn't buy, a good stomach.

By necessity, Goldwater somewhat awkwardly followed Rockefeller's example. I don't know whether the Arizona senator ate chili con carne when he was running for office in his state. But in New Hampshire the hands he had to grasp were colder. As the dreary weeks passed, he gave ample evidence that he cared less and less for what he was doing.

The serious point in this is that these men already were holders of high office. They were running for the most exalted elective office in the world. Certain evidences of dignity are required in such a contest.

There is something grotesque in the concept that a man who rates consideration as a candidate for president must behave like a candidate for town marshal or selectman.

IT WASN'T DONE in earlier years. They won nominations and elections without putting on a folksy act. Jackson, Lincoln, Hayes and Cleveland won without this sort of activity. Most candidates merely remained at home. It was William Jennings Bryan who started the business of running all over the country campaigning. He didn't win. McKinley beat him without leaving his front porch in Canton.

Among the many motives which moved the frosty voters of New Hampshire, there might have been a sense of the proprieties, of proportion and a concept of what kind of behavior suits an individual who has qualifications for the presidency. Perhaps we shall, after this demonstration, have more light and less bodily contact in our campaigning for the presidency.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Mr. and Mrs. Selkirk Huston, formerly of Fredericktown, moved to Leetonia.

Desk Sergeant J. Norman McFarland was appointed captain of police, replacing the late Mason Conley.

made the first treaty ever ne-gociated with the Indians and it was one of the most successful in American history, remaining in force more than half a century.

During that period there were no Indian disturbances in all southeastern Massachusetts.

On this date:

In 1685, the German composer Johann Sebastian Bach, was born.

In 1891, the Hatfield-McCoy feud in Kentucky was ended with the marriage of two members of the opposing clans.

In 1918, Gen. Ludendorff launched Germany's great offensive of 1918.

In 1945, a U.S. carrier fleet disclosed its units had attacked the enemy fleet in Japan's inciples of the OAS to be incorporated in a general resolution.

Job Creation

By David Lawrence

Business Restrictions Handicap Economy

Nobody in Washington has started the real "war on poverty." The politicians are afraid to do it. So, instead, there is a big fanfare about how the federal government, by spending money for better schools and for training students or by eliminating discrimination in employment and by other welfare measures, can eventually increase the incomes of the unfortunate individuals who are earning less than $3,000 a year.

But, as is always the case with those theorists in our midst who never see the economic forest for the realistic trees, the biggest single way to cure much of today's "poverty" is overlooked. The remedy is to be found in opening the doors of job opportunity in business.

The most important thing needed to encourage economic growth today is the removal of the barriers against business expansion. This ranges all the way from the need for a reduction of tariff and quota walls imposed overseas to a recognition of the trials and travails of the American free-enterprise system at home which is no longer free.

Undoubtedly, there are many Negroes in the South who would like to go North. Certainly many of them could get jobs as domestics which pay from $2,000 to $3,000 a year. When two in a family work, this would be doubled. These jobs go begging today. Many families well able to pay for domestic help have been compelled to give up their houses and live in apartments because they can't get such help.

SOMEWHERE in the country there are plenty of men and women who would jump at the chance of getting jobs in the cities, and they have adequate education — but they are far away geographically. A war to overcome geographical barriers would help in "the war on poverty."

It doesn't take a high school education to be able to operate a plow or a truck and it doesn't require any knowledge of science or history to be a night watchman or a waiter or a cook or perform some other tasks in factory or store or home. Yet current unemployment figures, including many persons in such categories, are high. Also the population of working age is growing rapidly.

The greatest chance for high employment will develop when business is permitted to expand naturally and when it isn't subjected to the harassments of constant strikes or threats of strikes by those already earning today from $5,000 to $10,00

THE CHURCH FOR ALL....

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What do you see here? Figures of statuary? A symbol of religion? A monument to the Master?

Look with your heart and you'll see something else. You'll see the soul of the sculptor.

A man mightily inspired — who wanted with his talents to worship Christ — who took stone and chisel and hammer . . . and all the strength of his body . . . and all the faith of his heart. He said to the world with his Art-Words that which he could never have spoken with his lips nor written with his pen.

For twenty centuries Jesus, the Saviour, has inspired our best. In the annals of mankind a million thrilling breakthroughs in human achievement have been dedicated to His service.

So never pass the humblest creation of sacred art — not even the crayoned Bible-picture of a child — without remembering that you too have a soul. And talents to give your God!

Campaign's Week Late

Midland District Scholar Solicitation Set March 30

The door-to-door "Dollars-for-Scholars" solicitation in the Midland and Western Beaver School Districts will be held March 30-April 4, the chairman announced.

Because of the Crippled Children Society's Easter Lily canvass Sunday, and Holy Week, Midland area sponsors decided to hold their solicitation a week later than scheduled.

The other participating districts, East Liverpool, Beaver Local, Wellsville, Oak Glen and South Side, will begin their campaigns Sunday.

The "Dollars-for-Scholars" drive is a community effort to raise funds to help students financially to further their higher education. Residents become members of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation by contributing $1.

Funds raised in each area are used only for the students of that area. The only exception are any undesignated funds contributed by industry which will be used in districts where needed.

Students desiring the scholarships must be accepted by their school or college and then apply for the foundation's scholarships through their high school guidance offices. Applications are being distributed.

Lester Trainer of Midland is in charge of the Midland canvass, including businesses, and Mrs. M. D. Renwick of Industry for Western Beaver. Area or block captains will be announced later.

Wilbert Basinger of the Basinger & Gifford Real Estate & Insurance Agency of Midland is in charge of the clubs and organizations phase of the Midland drive.

But Who Does The Buying?

District Men Don Their New Clothes For Spring Fancy

By CLARA HALL

In the spring a young man's fancy (and the older gent's too) is supposed to turn lightly to thoughts of love. The arrival of spring also brings the desire to purchase some new clothing on the part of just about everyone.

But why should milady receive all the fashion attention at springtime when her counterpart buys his attire with little attention or fanfare? After all, he must look smart to be her escort in the Easter parade.

Checking into the clothes-buying habits in city stores, I discovered some unusual aspects of the men's wear trade.

Tom Powers, a salesman for Frank Diamond, said the woman by all means is the dominating factor in the purchase of clothing for her better half.

HE REPORTS when a husband and wife team come in there often is so much difference of opinion that many humorous situations occur.

A couple came in one day to buy a suit but could come to no agreement, so the next day the gentleman came in for paint, time and time again.

Mrs. Pat Huddleston, manager of the men's department at Montgomery Ward Co., says more clothing is sold for Father's Day than any other holiday. She smiled as

CAN YOU imagine a mother asking what size pants her son would wear being he took a size 10 shoe? This question confronted Earl Cross, salesman at the Arrow Pants Shop, who commented it is hard for a mother and son to come to agreement where clothes are concerned.

Parents have a hard time accepting the new styles and usually if sunny has a poor attitude, "mama walks out without buying him a thing."

Kenneth Lane, salesman for Robins and Sant, says the husband and father generally gets his clothing after the female members of the family are outfitted. Most men have no particular time in the spring for acquiring new clothing, gentleman who, after wearing it for about a year, complained it had no pockets. He had failed to cut the threads used to keep the pockets closed!

A gentleman who brought trousers back because they were too long — forgetting a cuff had to be put in them — caused a laugh at the Chambers Co. store. Mrs. Bea Tice, a saleslady, told about the man who asked an extra girl for BVD's, and she asked him, "Just what are they?"

alone and bought the one of his choice.

Then there was the lady who desired an inexpensive hat, but after looking over the collection said "too much money, let him do without a hat."

An embarrassing moment occurred for Jerry Rose, salesman for The Men's Shop, when he decided to demonstrate the water repellency of a raincoat and used a window spray, forgetting it was a solvent, and the water went right through.

Daydreamers come in the store, he said, not reading the pants sign correctly, and ask

Old Tree Landmark Leaves City Scene

By CHARLES CRONIN

When a professional tree removal firm started work the past week on slicing up this majestic elm, many elderly residents of the Ravine St. area no doubt felt remorse at losing an old friend.

Several men of the neighborhood can recall happy hours spent in scrambling up its thick boughs or playing games beneath its shady cover in their childhood.

The huge tree, sprouting four thick trunks that spread gracefully into the air, has been associated with East Liverpool's history for generations.

Tom Dubberly and Tom Muschweck, professional tree trimmers and removal experts, estimate its age at 115 years and its circumference of branches at 200 feet.

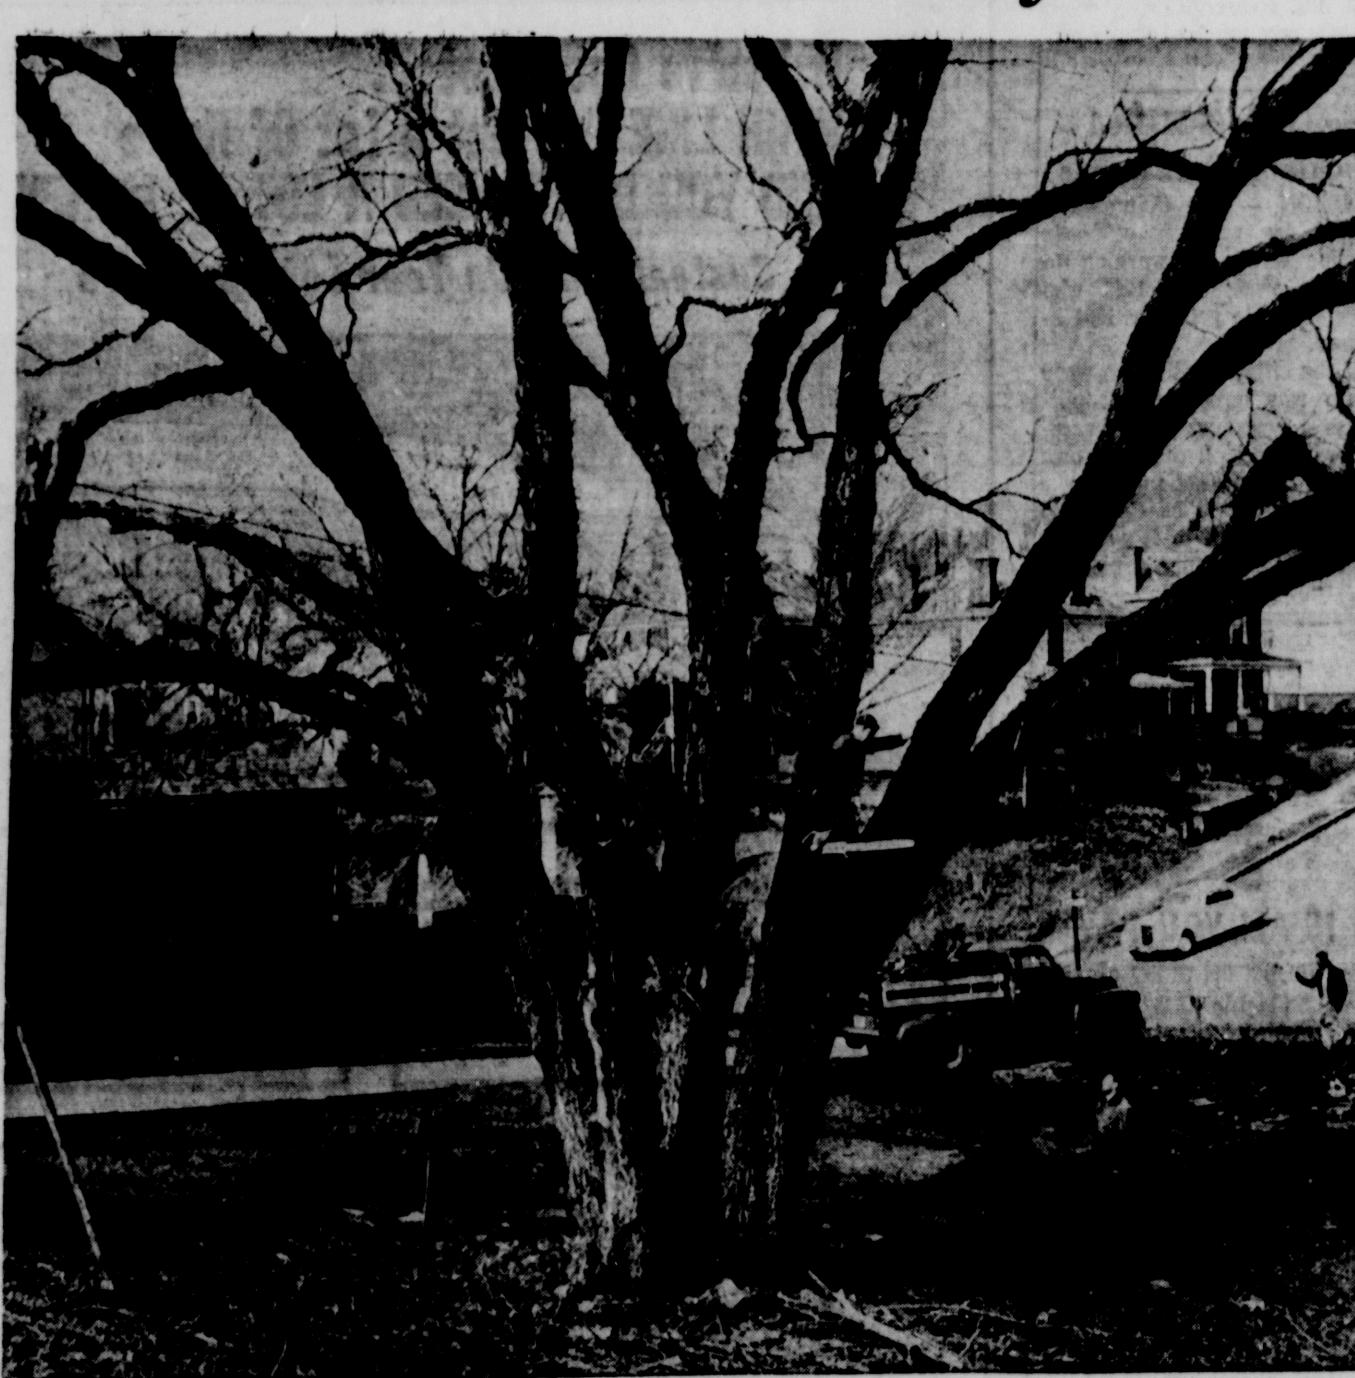

THEIR FIRM is well along with the job of clearing 22 trees from a corner lot at Ravine and Blakely Sts. as the site for the new VFW Post 66 home.

In the picture, Dubberly can be seen on one of the big limbs with a power saw, and Muschweck stands in the general location of a spring which bubbled from the earth years ago.

Frank Hoskinson, 77, who resides in the neighborhood, says cattle were watered at the spring under the elm as far back as 1896. Many years ago, pottery workers also took advantage of the regal tree's shade for picnics and there were usually kegs of beer on hand, he recalls.

Leo Ladzinske, 69, of Thompson Ave. remembers the elm was very large in his boyhood days.

Dale D. Thompson, who owned the corner lot for many years until its sale to the VFW Post, adds a humorous episode to the old tree's history.

Dubberly and Muschweck estimate the tree contains seven or eight cord of firewood.

Thompson was told the story as a youngster, and remembers driving by one day with his father and spotting the hole. The treasure, if one ever existed, was never found.

Dubberly and Muschweck continue to serve a beneficial role even in death.

Its boughs will be used for the outdoor fire places at Thompson Park, providing fuel for area residents on their summer barbecues.

which investigate complaints about alleged violations. After investigation and if the complaint is found true, the attorney will be called on the carpet to explain his actions.

The complaint then may be referred to an arm of the Supreme Court of Ohio for action.

(This article is based upon the Law of Ohio. It is not intended to advise anyone on a specific problem. No person should ever attempt to apply or interpret any law without the advice of a lawyer.)

The Law

The legal profession is guided by a strict set of rules called the Canons of Professional Ethics. All of the more than 14,000 attorneys and judges in Ohio must follow these rules which were formulated on a national level and adopted by the Supreme Court of Ohio.

In addition, judges have another set of rules which they must follow called Canons of Judicial Ethics, which also were adopted by the Supreme Court of Ohio.

The Canons are constantly interpreted by officials of the Bar on the state and national level and their opinions published to lay down clear guidelines for professional conduct.

The reason for such a stern set of rules is obvious: The people must have absolute confidence in the integrity and impartiality of the administration of justice. The motives and conduct of all members of the legal profession must be above question. Violation of these rules is met with severe discipline.

But exactly what are the Canons and what do they cover?

There are 47 Canons of Professional Ethics, each dealing with a specific area of lawyer conduct. The first Canon outlines the duty of the lawyer to the courts and his duty to maintain a respectful attitude toward the court system.

Other Canons deal with such areas as the lawyer's duty to provide proper defense for those accused of crime, client-attorney relationships, adverse and conflicting interests, the amount of the fee, treatment of witnesses, conduct in the courtroom, and the manner in which he may tell others of his service.

To insure that the Canons are followed, the local and state Bar associations in Ohio have special committees

Election Board Staff Works Under Deadline Pressure

Vote Task Takes Year-Long Work

By ROBERT POPP

Anyone who has ever walked into a newspaper city room when a big story was breaking would recognize immediately the quiet, charged atmosphere that grips the County Election Board's office on a night when returns are pouring in.

There's the same electric excitement, organized confusion and the strained look of a staff trying to do the impossible against a deadline. Amid jangling telephones and rushing messengers, there's a background of small talk among bystanders.

But most of all, there's the cohesion as individuals and small groups work on sections of a job that later will be put together into one big picture.

That newspaper atmosphere is no hallucination. It's part of a system of gathering returns put together by Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board for 26 years.

The job of collecting and reporting returns—and some of the board's other operations—are an amalgam worked out over the years, combining the experiences of a life-time that has been devoted in equal parts to elections and newspaper work.

When the election machinery rolls throughout Columbiana County, as many as 48,000 people cast ballots in 165 polling places. There are 990 persons at work in those precincts—six in each polling place.

It's the board's job to see that the election goes off without a hitch. But when the precinct crews tally up their totals, lock their doors and go home, the Election Board's job swings into high gear.

It must make a complete, accurate count on every race or issue and telephone the results as quickly as possible to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown at Columbus.

O'Hanlon's career in both newspapering and election work spans more than a half century.

He concedes that many of the techniques used in gathering and reporting returns are modifications of practices in the newspaper business, where the prime motto is: "Get it first, but get it right!"

Most of the election returns are funneled to the board via telephone. When a precinct crew has counted its totals, they are passed on to a so-called district collector. There are 11 district collectors at work throughout the County on election nights.

When a district collector has received the totals from all his precincts, then added them up, he telephones the combined tabulation to the election board.

THUS, INSTEAD of copying down the results from each of the 12 precincts in a district, the Election Board's staff need take only the combined total from the district collector.

The number of precincts in a collectors' district varies from four to 28. In the East Liverpool area there are 47 precincts. The reports are received by messengers to avoid jamming the telephone lines.

A similar technique is used in tabulating returns in the board's office. It must obtain the figures from each of the 165 precincts, enter them on a chart and add them up.

To expedite the tabulation, the board divides the job into sections. For instance, while one set of tally clerks enters the totals on the first 10 offices, another group is doing the same job on the last half of the ticket.

In that way, a tabulation job that would require six hours can be cut to three. In races of statewide interest, sub-totals are taken and telephoned to Columbus, generally after each 10 precincts.

The procedure of gathering returns by telephone and splitting the tabulation into sections is followed only for the first unofficial returns issued on election night. A meticulous official canvass is made within a few days. Surprisingly, there rarely is any significant deviation between the two sets of figures.

O'Hanlon emphasizes that many of the techniques the board uses are adaptations of newspaper procedures.

"WE WERE THE first board in Ohio to institute the district collector system," he said.

Over the years, the Election Board has won several citations from the secretary of state for the speed and accuracy of its returns.

The Columbus office always expects to receive its first returns from areas in which votits semi-annual drive to register unqualified East Liverpool voters. At the same time, it is preparing for the primaries.

By this time, a contract generally has been awarded to a job printer to furnish the ballots. The printer submits proofs to the board, which must be checked against candidate lists for accuracy and conform to the style stipulated by the secretary of state. A contract also is awarded about the same time to a book-binding firm to furnish poll books for each precinct.

The board's staff also is at work preparing summary sheets on which the primary results will be entered. And form letters are being readied for mailing to each precinct official, spelling out in detail the instructions for the election.

NEXT IT'S TIME to begin issuance of absentee ballots to those in the armed forces or residing temporarily outside the U.S. Application forms must be issued, then processed when they are returned, leading to issuance of ballots. A month later, the board begins issuance of civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots.

In the midst of all the other work, the spring voter registration drive hits a peak in East Liverpool. Although it's launched four or five weeks before the deadline, the response normally does not become heavy until the last two or three days.

The board maintains a 12-hour continuous schedule of office hours the last three days before the deadline. It usually also establishes branch registration centers in the three major residential areas — Pleasant Heights, North Side and East End.

About a year, the board compiles and publishes a precinct register — a complete, alphabetical listing of every qualified East Liverpool voter. The registers must be posted at each polling place in advance of the general election.

After the registration deadline comes the next task — issuance and return of the civilian and "soldier" ballots.

THAT DEADLINE comes on top of the pre-election rush when the board's staff is packing supplies in individual suitcases, preparing to distribute them to each of the 165 precincts. As part of the supply distribution, the absentee ballots, sealed in identification envelopes, are placed in the suitcases to go to the proper precincts.

And the post-election work is the same, including receipt of the candidates' expense reports. Then there's the annual year-end check to remove the names of East Liverpool residents who have not voted at least once in the preceding two years or taken some other action to retain an "active" status. A notice must be mailed to each, along with a form for reinstatement by mail.

And then the end of the year has rolled around and it's time to begin the cycle all over again.

Mixed in with the same rush is the job of seeing that all voting booths and ballot boxes are taken out of storage, trucked to polling places and erected. In many instances, the board contracts with private property owners to rent space for polling places.

THE CLIMAX of all the preparations comes on election day. The board's office is staffed well before the polls open at 6:30 a.m. in order to answer any possible questions from precinct crews. It will be staffed continually from that time until the last returns are reported and tabulated in the wee hours of the following morning.

Once the unofficial totals are complete — anywhere from 2 to 5 a.m. the day after the election — the public lets the election slip from its mind. The Election Board takes a brief break and then reconvenes for the official canvass — the painstaking count that produces the figures certified to the secretary of state. The official canvass generally requires two to three days.

Any candidate who wishes a recount then has an opportunity to petition the board.

Already, the board has moved on to new phases of its work. Expense report forms are mailed in advance of the election to every candidate.

They also are sent to committees supporting or opposing any candidate or issue.

The candidates and others required to file sworn statements of their campaign expenses, showing for what purposes the money was spent, any contributions they received, the unexpended balances and to what purpose the left-over money will be put.

Particular importance is attached to the expense statements now under a recent law that bars a candidate from running again for five years if he fails to report. The statements must be filed not later than 45 days after an election.

WHEN A candidate lists an expenditure of $25 or more, he must furnish a receipt. The Election Board is barred from issuing certificates of election to persons who do not comply with the expense reporting law.

About the time of the last of the expense statements has been cleared up, the board begins receiving non-partisan candidates' petitions for the August filing deadline.

As the November election approaches, it goes through the same procedure as for the primaries — awarding ballot contracts, registering voters, issuing absentee ballots, preparing instructions for precinct crews, typing summary sheets and many others.

And the post-election work is the same, including receipt of the candidates' expense reports. Then there's the annual year-end check to remove the names of East Liverpool residents who have not voted at least once in the preceding two years or taken some other action to retain an "active" status. A notice must be mailed to each, along with a form for reinstatement by mail.

Now numbering 97, the chorus will sing "No Greater Love" for this year's cantata.

Many members of the original group have left, but the others — and their children — continue to take part. A number of the early members who have moved away return each year to sing. They represent 17 different churches in the Western Pennsylvania area.

Besides Mrs. Pflug, there are seven members of the first chorus who will be raising their voices in song again this year. They are Mrs. McHaffie, Mrs. Martha Shiver, Mrs. Ruby Doughty, Mrs. Jean Christy, Mrs. Ruth Leeper, Miss Cora Mae Swearingen and Harry Shane.

Mrs. Pflug lives in Raccoon Township; Mrs. Rita Drake Brown, the pianist, lives in Aliquippa, and Mrs. Virginia Neilson, the organist, makes the trip each year from Seewickley.

The chorus begins practice each year on the first Sunday in February, and rehearses each following Sunday until the presentation. After the final rehearsal, the members gather for a tea in the church basement.

Because the church is not large enough to seat all those who wish to hear the cantata, the chorus will present two programs, one tonight at 8, and the other tomorrow night at 8.

Featured in this year's presentation will be Fay Septer,

The board helped control the confusion by locking its door, then allowing the voters inside in groups of 25 to register.

THERE ALSO was a high pitch of excitement and interest during World War II when Roosevelt ran for his fourth term, O'Hanlon recalls.

He complimented Miss Resnick and Mrs. Conner for their "ability, affability and congeniality."

"It has been a pleasure to be associated with the men and the lone woman who have comprised the County Election Board," O'Hanlon said. "The board always has been broad-minded and fair in every decision. It has been a happy time; one of the happiest periods of my existence."

"I am gratified that the board and its staff never have been accused of being dishonest or unfair," O'Hanlon added. "We try to be absolutely impartial with everyone."

"We don't permit politics to influence any decision in our work."

Dayton Battles Cleveland East For Ohio Class AA Title

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four of the classiest clubs in tournament history go after Ohio's high school basketball championships today in the finals of the 42nd annual classic at Ohio State's St. John Arena.

In Class A, at 2 p.m., Dresden Jefferson's defending champions (24-2), hoping to become the third small school in history to put titles back-to-back, tangle with Celina Immaculate Conception (27-1), which finished second in the final Associated Press poll.

Both Belmont and Celina ICHS set records in Friday's semifinals as they battered their way into the payoff contests.

Belmont, boasting only a two-basket edge, 23 to 21, over No. 2 ranked Canton McKinley, cashed 34 of 44 free throws for an astounding 80-56 conquest, over the oft-frustrated Bulldogs. The former charity throw record was 27.

Celina roared away to a 29-point first period against Piqua Catholic — greatest spree the tourney has ever witnessed — en route to an easy 64-36 conquest.

Cleveland East, tall, fast and with a glue-like defense, breezed into the finals against Dayton Belmont with a 58-31 nod over Elyria. That spoiled Elyria Coach Dale Reichenbach's hopes of winning in both classes. He coached Grand Rapids to the Class A laurels in 1951.

Dresden Jefferson had the only tough contest of the semifinals, 51-50 over Mogadore. Mogadore, beaten six times in 22 starts, had the ball out of bounds under its own basket with eight seconds to go, and District its 21st class AA crown in 42 years. If Cleveland East wins, the Northeast will gain its seventh title.

Friday's sessions drew a total of 27,634, up a bit from the 27,033 of a year ago.

Emanuel Leaks, Cleveland East's 6-foot 8-inch center, led the Class AA scorers in the semifinals with 21 points. Next, at 18, were Dayton Belmont's All-Ohio pair—Don May and Bill Hosket — and Canton McKinley's Ray Flanigan.

Mogadore, in a losing cause, had the two top point-getters in Class A. Ernie George, 230-pound senior center, led the way with 18, and Bob Bookwalter contributed 16. Paul Lacey of Dresden scored 14. All-Ohio Lee Sutter and Tom Link of Celina had 13 each.

McKinley's loss was a heart-breaker for the Bulldogs. Fifteen times they've reached the state meet, but they've lost six year ago.

times in the semifinals and five times in the title game. Rated second in the final poll, with only a one-point loss to Massillon on their 25-game record, they figured "this is the year." But Belmont was just too classy.

Belmont is making its first appearance in the tourney, having been founded only eight years ago. Cleveland East reached the quarterfinals back in 1924. Celina IC has never before appeared in the classic, while Dresden made its lone appearance a winning one a year ago.

Unbeaten UCLA, Duke To Tangle In NCAA Cage Finals

Bruins Win By 90-84; Blue Devils Defeat Michigan, 91-80

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A combination of dash and drive, Keith Erickson and four pert cheerleaders put UCLA into Saturday night's NCAA basketball championship game against Duke.

The unbeaten Bruins had their hands full with Kansas State and had just rallied to a 75-75 tie Friday night when the four short-skirted misses romped into Municipal Auditorium.

They gave out a yell, the crowd gave out a yell, Erickson dropped in a couple of free throws and UCLA was ahead to stay.

"Their arrival certainly seemed to turn the trick," UCLA Coach John Wooden said, half joking.

The Bruins finished up with a 90-84 triumph and their 29th straight victory. Duke clipped Michigan 91-80 in Friday night's other semifinal, setting up the tonight's final between the top-ranked Big Six champion and the nation's No. 3 team from the Atlantic Coast Conference. Neither has ever won the title before.

"Duke really impressed me," Wooden said. "Particularly the way they work one big man on the high post and the other on the short post. They're a fine basketball team, but we're not unaccustomed to playing tough courses."

Big Jay Buckley, Duke's 6-foot-10 center, was the difference. He pulled down 14 rebounds against Michigan's burly front line and contributed 25 points.

The Blue Devils, now 26-4 for the season, outscored Michigan 81-81 late in the first half for a 39-32 lead, increased it to 48-39 at intermission and weren't seriously threatened again.

UCLA, however, had all it could handle. The Bruins were down 75-70 when they reeled off a string of 11 straight points, most on a blazing fast break keyed by Gail Goodrich and Walt Hazzard.

The burst gave them an 81-75 lead with about five minutes to go and they started slowing it down, working the ball far out from the basket and forcing Kansas State to abandon its zone defense.

The Kansans began fouling and UCLA had control of the game the rest of the way.

"Duke really impressed me," Wooden said. "Particularly the

Nicklaus, 2 Others Share Doral Lead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three eager young men—Jack Nicklaus, Rex Baxter and Bob Shave—led the way into today's third round of the $50,000 Doral Golf Tournament after a spectacular assault on one of the nation's tougher courses.

Nicklaus, 24, and Baxter, 28, knocked one stroke off the course record with six-under-par 66. Shave, 27, equaled the old mark as they surged to the top with eight under par 138s. ....

Although the youthful trio shined 51-year-old Sam Snead out of the lead, the old master remained a positive threat. He was only one stroke off the hot pace after a 69 in the second round.

One more stroke back was another veteran of Snead's age, a Miami club pro named Joe Lopez Sr., who put together a pair of 69s for 138.

The old record for Doral's 7,028-yard "Blue Monster" course was set in the Doral tournament in 1962 by Paul Bonde son.

Jay Hebert remained in the running with a 69 for 139. Dave Marr, playing his best golf of the year, put together a pair of 70s to tie for seventh with Li onel Hebert and Billy Casper.

Colavita Blasts Finley In Dispute Over Contract

By MIKE RATHETT
Associated Press Sports Writer
BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — They had it put in the paper that I asked for $25,000 if I got traded," said Colavito. "That is not true. Finley made mention of that figure — not me. I just said I'd sign if he gave me the same clause I had in my Detroit contract."

Colavito said he and Finley were in one of their numerous contract sessions when the subject came up.

"I wanted to sign and get things over with, but we could not agree on my salary," said Colavito. "I had a trade clause in my Detroit contract, so I asked him to write one in my Kansas City contract and I'd sign."

"He interrupted me right away — and he said I'd get $25,000 if I were traded," said Colavito. "Now he's made it sound like I said it, but I didn't."

"Besides, he never put it in my contract," said Colavito. "He said he didn't think it would be right because everyone else would ask for the same thing."

Colavito, acquired in an off-season trade with Detroit ended his holdout siege last week and reported last Sunday night. Colavito said he signed for less than he wanted. He had been reported seeking approximately $50,000.

Asked for comment on the salary dispute, A's General Manager Pat Friday said: "It's over now, and I don't think it would do any good to discuss it."

"I was surprised when I got my first contract offer," said Colavito. "It called for a $6,500 cut. I couldn't understand that. First of all, when you are traded most clubs give you a token raise just to make you feel good. Secondly, I didn't have a bad year."

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Soft Voices Indicate Family Harmony

Fortunate is the child who grows up in a family where gentle, loving voices are heard, from the parents and from everyone in the household. Loud and high-pitched voices are unpleasant to hear. They stir up feelings of tension and irritation while soft quiet voices are Dr. Garry Myers' not only pleasant to hear but they have a calming, satisfying effect on all who hear them.

When several children romp and play indoors excitedly their voices go up in pitch and loudness and the screeching grates on the nerves of others present and may cause them to scream too.

When children or others in the family argue and quarrel, they betray their ire in their voices.

Excitable, tense children are inclined to pitch their voices high and loud, and then their parents may shout to them to "pipe down." A teacher may shout at school children. "Quiet!" A better way for the annoyed adult then to speak very softly, almost in a whisper.

Young couples expecting their first baby do well to practice months before the great event, at talking to each other quietly, no louder than necessary to be heard, as they try to have the voices they want the new baby to hear and imitate.

HOW WONDERFUL to hear the sweet and loving tones of the mother talking softly to her infant who coos and goes contentedly.

The baby soon begins to imitate her speech or the father's, and how much better it is for the infant to hear voices from parents who put emphasis on articulating sounds and distinct words.

A good time for all the family to cultivate soft voices is at mealtime when there's no TV or radio on and everybody is comfortable and relaxed.

Most married couples speak to each other and to the children far more loudly and at a higher pitch than necessary. In doing so, they decrease the warmth of the family atmosphere.

Loud, rasping voices not only stir up tensions and unhappy feelings in those who hear them, but persons when tense and irritable tend to speak louder and pitch their voices higher.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Ernest Willis, who passed away 2 years ago March 21, 1958. Missed us sadly. And finds the time long since you went. And I think of you daily and hourly. But try to be brave and content. But the tears that I shed in regret, and I will see the sight of regret, when you were mine and I remember. The all the world forgot. Not dead to me who loved you, my son. Not lost but gone before. But though we're parted for awhile I hope to meet you some day. I know not when. We shall meet in a better land. And never part again. Sadly missed by Mother and Dad. Excell. Mary Jean, Larry and Danny.

WHEN THE CHILD does not obey promptly as the parents say, "no" or "Don't" they repeat the command once or many times, speaking more shrilly and noisily on each repetition.

One of the strongest arguments for teaching early and constantly the unambiguous meaning of no is to avoid loud and high-pitched voices. What parent can always speak in soft tones to the child who doesn't mind?

My bulletins, "Love and Restraint," "The Nervous Child" and "The Nervous Jittery Mother," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

TV Highlights

TONIGHT

6:30, KDKA, Rifleman: "Retired Gun." Lucas becomes involved in a famous gunman's efforts to retire from gun-fighting when he marries.

7:30, WJAC, WTRF, WIIC, Lieutenant: "The Better Man." Lt. Rice loses his girl friend to an all-American football player from Annapolis who is the nephew of the colonel.

8:30, KDKA, WSTV, Defenders: "Moment of Truth." Attorney Lawrence Preston fights one of the toughest legal battles of his career, defending his son, Kenneth, against a bribery charge.

9: WTRF, WIIC, Movie: "Man on Fire," starring Bing Crosby, Inger Stevens, E. G. Marshall and Mary Fickett. A divorced couple becomes involved in a bitter struggle for the custody of their 11-year-old son.

9:30, KDKA, WSTV, Phil Silvers: "The sweet, lovable, little old lady hired as a housekeeper by Harry turns his home into a smoke-filled gambling den."

10, KDKA, WSTV, Gunsmoke: Festus Hagen's girl friend, April, tries to convince Festus and Quint that she was a witness to a murder, but both suspect she's only trying to play each of them for a fool.

SUNDAY
5:30, KDKA, Assignment Pittsburgh: "Time Capsule."

The major events of the past 25 years are to be inserted in a time capsule at the World's Fair. Today's programs will examine those events and compare them with a capsule buried in 1939.

7, WTAE, Battleline: "Invasion of Norway." The "Phony War" comes to an end when German and British interests in Norway reach the clashing point in April 1940.

7:30, WTAE, WEWS, Empire: "Stopover on the Way to the Moon," starring Richard Egan with co-stars Terry Moore, Anne Seymour and Ryan O'Neal. A crippled former rodeo rider takes out his bitterness on the world.

7:30, WJAC, WTRF, WIIC, Walt Disney: "In Shape with Von Drake." Goofy nearly succeeds in annihilating himself when he buys a mail order home gym from physical fitness expert Ludwig Von Drake.

10, WTAE, Movie: "Marjorie Morningstar," starring Natalie Wood and Gene Kelly. A story of a young love, and the struggle between decency and desire.

10, WJAC, WTRF, WIIC, Show Of The Week: "High Wire: The Great Wallendas," a behind-the-scenes look at the ordeal and triumph of the world-famous circus family whose high-wire act has been dogged by tragedy.

The Lenten Story

BY WOODY ISHMAEL

THE SON OF GOD

While Jesus hung in agony from His cross, passersby on the Hill of Calvary jeered and hooted.

"If Thou art the Son of God, come down from the cross," they cried, shaking their fists.

Similarly, the chief priests and elders mocked Him, saying, "He saved others, but He cannot save Himself."

At the ninth hour, Jesus cried out with a loud voice and gave up His spirit. Matthew tells us about that terrible time:

"And behold, the curtain of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom; and the earth quaked, and the rocks were rent, and the tombs were opened, and many bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep arose..."

"Now when the centurion, and those who were with him keeping guard over Jesus saw the earthquake and the things that were happening, they were very much afraid, and they said, 'Truly, this man was the Son of God.'" Matthew XXVII:52-54

Picture Yourself Without A Cigarette

Try this eye-opener. Take a big piece of white paper. In the very center make one small black dot. Hold the paper at arm's length from you. What do you see? Perhaps you will see the very small black dot. But can't you also see all the expansive of white paper?

Use this same principle to hold the weight line or to slim down, whichever is your objective. In your picturing see yourself at shape weight, modeling a new outfit and looking simply smashing! Get excited about the picturing plan. It really works!

College Students Pour Into Florida For Easter Spree

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)

— Thirty thousand vacationing college students, vanguard of an expected 70,000, poured out over the beach here today for an Easter spree away from home.

So far about 150 have been arrested for drinking under age 21. One was held on $1,500 bond for resisting arrest, and a motel owner was cited with "maintaining a nuisance" for housing wild vacationers.

Said one policeman: "We're keeping our fingers crossed, patrolling the beach like hounds, and praying the good guys will lead the beer drinking."

Starting today, planned entertainment along the 20 miles of beach will be almost continuous through April 4. One 75-cent admission ticket is good for the entire vacation. With it students can hear folk singers and a jazz sextet.

Despite the early arrests, both students and police say trouble has been limited. There have been no incidents resembling the Fort Lauderdale riots of 1961 when hundreds were arrested in wild, drunken beach parties.
